1. Run for the Roses Gala: Kathryn Stockett + more!

Our May 7th spring gala auction items will make you salivate, but none more so than an experience you cannot buy: An intimate wine-and-cheese party for you and 11 friends with best-selling The Help author Kathryn Stockett at a gorgeous waterfront Darien home. Add your name to the waiting list for a chance to bid on this and other tantalizing treats, like a 5-person luxury getaway to the new Four Seasons Vail. If you've already RSVPed, be thinking about how much that one-of-a-kind cocktail party is worth to you and your friends/book club buddies!

Recent press coverage

This well-done Yale Daily News piece describes the mighty struggles of our Domus Academy youth and highlights just how challenging this work is

The Stamford Advocate and Stamford Patch covered last week's visit from Keith of 50Give, who's visiting all 50 states to volunteer at nonprofits, and he picked Domus for his CT stop!

2. Domus featured in CPTV education documentary

On May 2nd, Connecticut Public Television will release Education Vs.

Prison: The Real Cost Of Failing Our Kids, which features our educational work with very struggling youth involved in the justice system who still have tremendous potential for success. Domus staff and youth highlighted in the film will attend the screening.

2. Passages Group Home Open House 5/17/11

The young men in our Passages group home are so excited to move into their beautiful new house! When you hear the term group home, it's hard to envision exactly what that is--some people say "think frat house, but without the beer smell," but we say: Just come visit! Our skilled residential services team can answer any question you might have about why and how our kids get placed with us and what life is like in a group home. Please join us Tuesday 5/17/11 anytime between 8am and 10am at 929 Newfield Avenue in Stamford, across from Trinity Catholic H.S.
